To Whom it May Concern:

Re: Cablik Recommendation Letter

We recently had the pleasure of working with Cablik Enterprises on the build-out of our attic into a master suite. I use the word pleasure because while construction, especially in a 90+ year old house, has its inevitable challenges and surprises, we finished the project thoroughly happy with our contractor and the outcome. Major goals going into the project were finishing on time and on budget and we can report that the outcome met or exceeded expectations. End to end the project finished on time and our project manager did a great job of keeping us in the loop as things progressed and managing our expectations about what would be finished when. In regards to the budget, with any project of size there will be some good and bad surprises. Cablik was very reasonable in managing to the overall project bid so we finished in line with our expectations prior to pulling the first permit.

Furthermore we can't say enough about Ryan Howard, who managed our project. We have recommended him and Cablik to several friends & neighbors considering projects. There are many specific points but I will highlight a few....

- Our neighbors went out of their way to tell us what a good contractor we had. As they had to live next door to the chaos for the 3 months, they commented several times on how attentive, considerate and involved Ryan was on our project.
- Very responsive regardless of day or night. I specifically remember a Saturday towards the end of the project where Ryan was on site, doing most of the work himself to make sure the house was cleaned up properly and identifying any areas on the main level that needed touch up.
- Going above and beyond the call of duty, he took home and washed our infant's crib bedding when the seal to his room was breached- this amazed us, and speaks to Ryan's attention to every detail.

As homeowners with 600 sf of new master bedroom & bath that we love, without reservation we recommend Cablik Enterprises.
